

Create a project with nested component, take one input box into parent component, and pass input box value to respective child and same value need to their nested child.

e.g. App (parent component) > Home (child of App and parent of Principle component) > Principle (child of Home Component)

Need to take one input field into App component and display that value to Home as well Principle Component.